

Awards won by overseas Group companies (Fiscal year ended March 2022)

Region	Name (organization)	Date	Awardee	Outline of award, reasons for selection
United Kingdom	"Putting the G into Gaming" Diversity Award (Amiqus)	September 16, 2021	Creative Assembly (Awarded to Emma Smith, leader of Creative Assembly's Legacy Project)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● The award was presented in recognition of the "Putting the G into Gaming", a campaign to accelerate gender diversity in games. ● Emma Smith was commended for her efforts to promote diversity in the video game industry. → Link to related page (news releases, etc.) https://www.creative-assembly.com/blog/creative-assembly-recognised-industry-best-place-work-5th-year
United Kingdom	"Best Place to Work Awards 2021" (GameIndustry.biz)	November 16, 2021	Creative Assembly	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● GameIndustry.biz, a news medium for the British video game industry, selected Creative Assembly for its "Best Place to Work" award. ● The company has won the award in five successive years by meeting the selection criteria. → Link to related page (news releases, etc.) https://www.creative-assembly.com/blog/creative-assembly-recognised-industry-best-place-work-5th-year
Canada	"Canada's Best Boss 2021" (GameIndustry.biz)	November 16, 2021	Relic Entertainment, Inc. (Heidi Eaves, COO)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● The British video game industry medium GameIndustry.biz selected Relic Entertainment for a special "Canada's Best Boss" award in its "2021 Best Places to Work in Canada" program for the game industry. ● The award was presented to Heidi Eaves in recognition of her leadership in countermeasures against the COVID-19 pandemic and her consideration for employees. Employee recommendations to the award secretariat were also taken into consideration. → Link to related page (news releases, etc.) https://www.sega.co.jp/en/release/211118_1.html